The Name Joseph Ebertz

Around 2,000 years ago a man walked the earth who said and did things no one had ever said and done before, or since. Inspired by this man, his words and his deeds, four separate authors, over the span of less than a lifetime, compiled versions of his life that were either eyewitness accounts or based upon eyewitness accounts. These volumes were originally written as stand-alone manuscripts, but in the following centuries were compiled into a larger volume that eventually became the first four books in the New Testament, part of the Bible. In the process of this compiling, some trade-offs were inevitable, and two millennia later these four books, called the Gospels, languish on people's bookshelves, buried in a tome that too often intimidates rather than stimulates. Among what was lost was a sense that these books were something uniquely powerful, and as such deserve an emphasis and a focus that has been largely lost. These books are the most important and unique ever written, if true, and deserve the special billing they never got when they were included (buried) in the Bible as a whole. This book is an attempt to rectify that situation, by turning back the clock with regard to these four books, the Gospels. In my book, "The Name", I've separated them from the rest of Scripture, as they were originally written and intended, I believe. They've been re-written, streamlined and tightened up, but not compromised, into a slim volume that has a more narrow focus: to introduce the reader to the One. The One whose Name you can call upon in a time of trouble or need, and He will show up. Guaranteed.
